

As a little girl, Ricky Nowak wanted to be an actress to entertain audiences

- A journalist to write stories about people
- A global traveller to go on journeys to far off places

And as a Leadership Speaker who makes stories and lessons come alive with global audiences she has indeed managed to achieve what she was born to do.

By staying true to her belief that “leadership is individual” and people are their best when they connect to what they love, she takes her audiences on their own journeys to find the courage to lead with authenticity and purpose.

Author of four business books, regular media commentator, Certified Speaking Professional and night time chocolate eater, please welcome Ricky Nowak CSP our Guest presenter as she takes you on your own Leadership journey.
